Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union Report of the Superintendent of Schools

It is with pleasure that I offer the residents of the Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union (Towns of Ira, Middletown Springs, Poultney, Tinmouth, and Wells) my first impressions regarding education within our communities. I came to the district, having been a Superintendent and most recently Director of Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment for the Barre Supervisory Union. These previous administrative positions have given me a unique advantage in being able to take the reins of the RWSU, which, by all indications is a well-functioning district.

The reasons for the success are clear: hard working board members; competent and caring administrators, faculty, and staff; and most importantly, wonderful children.

There are several issues that are enormous in terms of complexity and implications for each of our school districts. I will try to highlight some of these issues and will continue to gather information so that we make decisions that are child-centered, focused on improved teaching and learning, and balance the needs of our taxpayers. Schools need to reflect the values of the communities that they serve. To that end, we are driven by the belief that all children will learn well, to the best of their ability.

Declining Enrollments and Rising Costs

Each of our districts are faced with the problem of shrinking enrollments and escalating costs. Boards have to continually assess the cost of doing business and examine their budgets for economy. This has resulted in some loss of positions and programs throughout the districts.

Some of our districts have looked toward offering pre-Kindergarten as a solution to increasing our student numbers, gaining additional state revenues over time, and improving the educational entry skills of our children.

The reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, now known as the No Child Left Behind Act, is having major ramifications for not only our districts, but education in Vermont and across the country. Issues such as teacher and paraprofessional qualifications, adequate yearly progress of all children including the disaggregation of data by subgroups, and annual testing in grades three through eight and high school have resulted in continuing school improvement efforts and some confusion as clarification is sought from the U.S. Department of Education. With the size of legislation such as NCLB, there are sure to be some growing pains and adjustments to be made.

Vermont's Change from Act 60 to Act 68

The legislation enacted in Vermont several years ago, Act 60, was the culmination of the legislative efforts to address the issue of equalizing the educational opportunities for all children regardless of where they resided. The beginnings of Act 60 emerged with a state-wide property tax and a local "above block" spending piece. Just as taxpayers and school officials were getting comfortable with being able to understand the law, the next generation, Act 68, comes upon us.

The Vermont Department of Education, in the process of providing technical assistance, along with the Tax Department, has stated that there is currently no way to make a good estimate of an actual homestead tax rate as the law currently reads. House Bill 540 (currently passed the House and is in the Senate) addresses this problem by having the State set homestead and non-homestead tax rates rather than tax liabilities. The pending result will be the actual tax rates taxpayers will see on their tax bills, which will be done by taking the equalized homestead and non-homestead rates and dividing by the most recent common level of appraisal.

Education Mandates

Late last year a joint report of the Vermont School Boards Association, the Vermont Superintendents Association, and the Vermont Principals Association was submitted to the new Commissioner of Education in accordance with Section 43 of Act 68. We often hear a lot of rhetoric about unfunded mandates and now we can refer to a careful study that articulates some of the complex issues such as driver education, criminal record checks, Governor's diploma, alcohol and drug prevention, licensing, etc. to name a few. The complete text of the report is available on www.vtvsba.org, along with other meaningful information.

One of the major pieces of legislation during the upcoming session will deal with the issue of school choice. The debates that will surround this policy directive will be emotional, and politically charged. School communities need to not only gather information on how this will affect their local school, but to be a voice for equal opportunity for each and every child within the district. Again, I opened with the words that schools need to reflect the values of the communities they serve, and will now be challenged to make sure that it happens.

I am very proud of the work of your staff and hope that some of the highlights I have presented have been not only informative, but heightened your opinion of the combined efforts and talents of the people working with your children. My office remains open for you to come in and express your ideas, comments, or concerns. Working together as "Partners in Education" we can improve our schools, leave no child behind, and prepare our students for the 21st century now upon us.

In closing, I would like to again thank the boards, staff, students, and community for their continued support. The collaborative efforts of all will allow us to see the fruits of our labors.

Respectfully submitted,

Maynard F. Baldwin, Jr.
Superintendent of Schools

REPORT OF EARLY EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union Early Education Program provides necessary intervention to handicapped and at-risk preschoolers. Children who are eligible for the Early Education Program fall into one of two categories: 1) Children who display a 40% delay in one or more learning areas, such as speech/language, cognitive, motor skills, behavior and self help, and are eligible for Essential Early Education; and 2) Children who are at-risk in any number of developmental areas, such as social, speech/language, general knowledge, large and small motor skills.

The Early Education Program continues to serve the children from the towns of Ira, Tinmouth, Wells, Middletown Springs and Poultney. The program and curriculum are similar to that of most preschool programs and maximum attention is paid to addressing the individual strengths and needs of each of the students. The teachers have backgrounds in early education and early intervention of handicapped and at-risk children. Direct services from a language teacher and an Early Interventionist are available to ALL children, not just children with specific needs in these areas.

The Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union Early Education center-based program is able to serve 34 students in three separate class sessions. Essential Early Education children are served both in the home and center-based programs. Essential Early Education children are given priority when selecting a center-based enrollment as mandated by law. At-risk children fill the remainder of the openings within the center-based program.

The Rutland Southwest Early Education Program provides a developmentally appropriate preschool curriculum, which, through his/her play, allows each child to grow across all developmental areas. Socially, our goal is to increase the self-esteem, self-reliance, and independence of our students. By regarding each child as a whole person, we recognize the importance of the family; parents are the child's primary educators. The Rutland Southwest Early Education staff works closely with parents to plan and implement programs for children.

The Early Education staff currently includes two full-time positions. These positions are: Early Interventionist/Teacher and teacher assistant. A language teacher serves students 1-1/2 days per week. The staff is currently serving thirty-seven children ages 2-5 years through our center-based/home-based programs.

The Early Education Center-Based Program is located at Poultney High School. This program currently runs three classes providing services to 2-5 year olds. The staff also provides home-based services to children 2-5 years old and early intervention services to children 0-3 in collaboration with the Family Infant Toddler Project (Part H).

Other services provided by the Early Education Program include: preschool screenings for 3 and 4 year old children from all towns in the Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union; evaluations of children with developmental delays to determine Special Education eligibility for Essential Early Education; coordination of the transition process from preschool to kindergarten; and support for families and existing community preschools through assistance, consultation and/or direct services as appropriate. There is also collaboration with the Even Start Program serving children 0-5 throughout the district.

2003-2004 Annual Report

Early education experiences are now available to families in outer lying areas of the district, in addition to the center based EEE program in Poultney. Research shows that the earlier children and families are engaged in language rich activities, the more successful children are in school.

Three different free programs are now offered throughout the school year. All are voluntary. Playgroup is an enjoyable way to meet and get together with other families with young children. Children birth to age 5 and their parents are welcome. Currently, playgroups take place on a regular basis in 2 different locations within the district. The times and locations are listed below.

- Wednesdays, 9:00-10:30 A.M., Tinmouth, Tinmouth Church basement
- Thursdays, 9:30-11:00 A.M., Middletown Springs, Middletown Springs Elementary

Home visiting is another early education program for families. The home visitor knows that you are your child's first and most important teacher. In addition to playing with you and your child, the home visitor can bring activities for you to share with your child. She is also there to answer your questions and help you connect with programs and resources you might need. I am available to do home visiting and look forward to spending time with you and your child or children, if you would like.

The last program that is offered is called Even Start. It is an intensive, integrated family literacy program. Any family with a child under 8 years of age and a parent without a high school diploma or with limited reading, writing, or math skills is eligible. Priority (if there is a waiting list) is based on family needs.

Even Start is a weaving together of adult education and early education tailored to individual families. Even Start team members build a strong relationship with each family. The adult educator and family educators work closely with families in a group setting, as well as in the home. Even Start partners up with Vermont Adult Learning, Headstart, the Parent Child Center, the Vermont Center For The Book, and the Vermont Council On The Humanities to offer a wide range of services and programs to Even Start families. I am an Even Start team member and welcome the opportunity to meet with families who are interested in Even Start.

In addition to the above ongoing programs, some additional short-term programs may take place this school year in outer lying communities in the district if grant funding is available. These programs, called Family Book Programs, last 3-4 weeks, one session per week, and are geared to families with children 5 years of age and younger. Families spend time together enjoying high quality children's books with related activities and receive a free set of the books by participating.

If you have questions or would like more information about the above programs, I will be happy to talk with you about them. My office is located at the Middletown Springs Elementary School and the number there is 235-2365.

Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union
Report from the Director of Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment

As the Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union Director of Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment, I submit my 4th annual report for the district.

To reach our goal of students achieving high academic levels, teachers and administrators continue to seek ways to improve curriculum, instruction and assessment. In each curricular area, some parts are established and successful and some are being improved while some are being developed. As the Department of education determines how we will implement the testing aspects of the new Federal law, the No Child Left Behind Law, we will adjust our plan.

The English Language Arts Curriculum was distributed, K-12, in the spring of 2003 with the pilot year being 2003-2004. Professional Development for the improvement of literacy instruction and assessment is on going through coaching and various graduate reading courses offered in the district.

We are in our fourth and final year of involvement with the Reading Improvement Project/Statewide Improvement Grant, a Federally funded four-year project that is designed to strengthen student reading and writing, pre-K-grade 3 and reduce special education referrals. Sally O'Doherty, Early Literacy Improvement Specialist, has been a coach, leader, consultant and professor for not just the schools identified for the project but for each of our schools in some way.

The new district Supervision & Evaluation system was completed and is in its pilot year. We provided a full day of professional development to all teachers and administrators in order to train teachers what research the system is based on. Administrators had previously received three days of training with other Rutland area administrators.

Fifteen new teachers attended an Orientation Day prior to the opening of school. The day was filled with the superintendent discussing our goals and the new Supervision and Evaluation system. There was training on Bloodborne Pathogens and on how to access district e-mail and the Internet. Curricular areas and specific grade level assessment information was shared along with a tour to district schools.

Vermont School Quality Standards require that we provide new first and second year teachers with on going support from a successful experienced teacher for two years. I am pleased that we have eight trained experienced teachers able to support our new teachers in the district.

Coordination with receiving high schools took the form of sending our Language Arts and Elementary Spanish Curriculums to the schools. We received some suggestions from department heads that will be implemented.

Preliminary work began on the development of the Science Curriculum. This is the first curriculum document that is being written with draft Grade Level Expectations (GLE) from the Department of Education as we prepare for the Federal 2005 assessments. Bruce Parks, Program Improvement Coordinator, continues to assist us with these efforts.

This is my thirtieth year in the district and it continues to be a pleasure to work with the administrative team, working together and supporting each other to meet the many challenges that face all educators with the No Child Left Behind Law.

Michelle C. Folger

Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union
2003–04 Annual Report

Special Education Coordinator's Report

Special Education programs provide services to students identified as having learning or emotional disabilities, health, speech and language, hearing or learning impairments, autism, and multiple disabilities. Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union served approximately 154 students this year.

Programs continue to address academic difficulties, provide accommodations and modifications to the regular education curriculum, implement positive social skills, teach functional daily living skills, and prepare students to contribute to society to the best of their ability. Eligibility for special education services and placements are determined by a student's Evaluation/Planning and IEP teams. Students with special needs can receive services that include speech and language support, help from instructional assistants, community based programs, and related therapies or counseling as determined necessary.

Federal and State law requires Child Find to locate and identify children who need services at the earliest age possible. Research states there is a strong correlation between early education and successful experience in school. A strong foundation of early intervention has been a focus in Rutland Southwest Supervisory Union for children and families. Through Early Education Committees under the auspices of Special Education, in addition to the Even Start Program and Early Education Program in Poultney, early education opportunities will be expanding. Pre-school programs in the Tinmouth and Middletown Springs Elementary Schools will also be in place for the coming school year. The Stonebridge Inn in Poultney will house satellite programs offered in Rutland, specifically Vermont Adult Learning, Day Care, Headstart, Parent Child Center, and Even Start offices for easier RSWSU community accessibility. This strong commitment to early education interventions and family support should provide our youngsters with a solid beginning of lifelong learning.

A "continuum" of services is expanding in order to serve our students locally and cost effectively. The OPTIONS Program is a Life Skills component of Poultney High School located off campus, available to all districts in RSWSU for students who have significant learning challenges and require an intensive life skills curriculum in a structured environment. In addition to the established BECOME Program, the new ACT Program under the OPTIONS umbrella has been created to serve students who are functioning below average in daily life skills, and have behavioral or social issues. Vermont Achievement Center and the Success Program in Rutland continue to serve RSWSU students with intensive behavioral challenges who are in need of a more specialized day program setting. The goal is to return these students to the local public school district or local setting as the capacity is built to serve them.

A major focus has been to address the capacity of Instructional Assistants/Paraprofessionals who work with our most challenged students. Federal and State regulations require that training and supervision be provided. Project EVOLVE, through the University of Vermont, emphasizes the need to identify an over reliance on Paraprofessionals, and to look at models of Special Education.

The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001/Reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act requires that Paraprofessional/Instructional Assistants employed be "highly qualified" by January, 2006.

The Supervisory Union has begun specific assessment and training activities to ensure that compliance is met for all Paraprofessionals/Instructional Assistants.

I welcome the RSWSU new Special Educators and Special Education Administrative Assistant, Patricia Kinirons, and would like to express gratitude to the Superintendent of Schools, Chip Baldwin, Poultney Community, Special Educators and all educators. It is support, collaborative efforts and strong partnership among all of us that achieves positive outcomes for our students with special needs.

Respectfully Submitted,

Marian Ackerman
Special Education Coordinator

THE REPORT OF THE IRA SCHOOL BOARD

The present budget for the Town of Ira School District 2004-2005 has increased due to the fact that the cost of education and tuition for our students has increased. We also will be paying for a deficit in the budget for the year ending June 2003. This was caused by the school districts where our students attend who back billed us for added expenses in the education of these students.

The School Board met with Chip Baldwin, our new Superintendent of the Southwest Supervisory Union; in January 2004 and discussed the current budget for 2004-05 and unanimously approved the budget of $771,708 to be presented to the residents of the Town of Ira for approval at the Town Meeting to be held on March 1, 2004 at 7:30 PM.

Please remember to file the Homestead Tax Form found in the Vermont Tax booklet for your rebate with your state tax form or if you are a renter use the Renter's Rebate tax form. If you have any questions regarding these forms, please call the Superintendent's Office or the Town Clerk's Office for help.

We hope that you will ask any questions regarding the School Budget at the Town Meeting on March 1, 2004 or call us at home. We ask that you vote in favor of this budget.

Thank you

FUNDRAISERS

The Ira Fire Dept. would like to thank all those people that helped on the fundraisers during the year. The outpouring of donations to the Yard Sale, the generous support at the coin drops, the time that many of you put in to help out, and the cash donations for work projects made 2003 a very successful year. The Ira Yard Sale was the biggest ever at $6000. (2) Coin Drops were held and 10 members worked the bingo at the Modern Woodsman hall in Wells. The crew had 4 work projects that raised funds. The total fundraising for 2003 came to $10,900.

MEMBERSHIP

Above all, the firefighters in Ira should be commended for their time and commitment. Dan Perry, Michael Raiche, and Alain Therrien took the Firefighter 1 course 183 hrs in 2003. Presently Louis South, Dennis Johnson, and Dave Werbinski are attending this year's school. Tim Perry, as Assistant Chief and Training officer, has spent countless hours at the firehouse. Topher Slack and Bryony North have been diligently taking care of the financial work.

The Fire Dept. meets the 2nd and 4th Monday of the month at 7pm. We are always looking for new members. Please give the Department a hand to help our neighbors in times of need.

PROJECTS FOR 2004

- 1.) The 1974 Ford Tanker is scheduled in for repairs. The 30 year old tank will be stripped and replated where age has had its effect.
- 2.) The firehouse will have new windows and the outside of the building will be repainted.

Vermont Department of Health
Annual Report – Ira

The Vermont Department of Health works to protect and improve the health of all citizens. The following are some of the essential services available to residents of Ira.

Bioterrorism – Emergency Preparedness:

The Vermont Department of Health is actively working with local, state and federal agencies to assure a rapid and effective response to bioterrorism and other public health threats or emergencies. Local health department response may include: finding and identifying disease early; investigating the source of the disease; providing accurate and timely information to the public and health professionals; and collaborating with other agencies during biological, environmental or weather events. The Rutland District Office has become a contributing member of the LEPC (Local Emergency Planning Committee) for the Rutland Region. In the past year we have established ties with many of the emergency response agencies. We have also provided training to town health officers, worked closely with the Rutland Regional Medical Center to increase active surveillance, and participated with local and statewide partners in a table top exercise on October 3, 2003. This exercise tested our ability to interact correctly in the vent of a regional emergency incident.

WIC (Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children):

One of the most effective ways to improve the health of the overall population is to improve nutrition and physical activity. WIC improves the health of pregnant and postpartum women, infants and young children by assuring access to health care, teaching families about good nutritional practices, and providing an individually designed package of nutritious food to eligible individuals. During 2002, 11 women, infants and children living in Rutland City received foods as well as health screening and individualized nutrition education through this program. The average value of foods provided is $35,00 per person per month.

West Nile Virus Surveillance:

West Nile Virus first appeared in the U.S. in New York City in 1999 and has become well established in nearly all states. Birds, some mammals and people can get WNV from the bite of an infected mosquito. The Vermont Departments of Health and Agriculture conduct surveillance for WNV each year from June until cold weather limits mosquito activity in the fall. As of October 21, 2003: 76 birds and three horses have tested positive for WNV. Three human cases of WNV have been confirmed in the state. In Rutland County from June 12 – October 17, 2003, 88 dead birds were reported, 61 were tested, and 7 birds were found to be infected with WNV. There were no human or equine cases reported during this same time period for Rutland County.

If you would like more information about these efforts, or if you have a public health concern, please call the Rutland District Office at 802-786-5811. Please visit our web site at www.healthvermonters.info for Healthy Vermonters 2010, our state's blueprint for improving public health, news releases; other publications and reports; and general public health information.

TO THE TOWN MANAGER, OFFICERS AND CITIZENS OF IRA:

For more than 57 years, the Rutland Area Visiting Nurse Association & Hospice has brought high-quality, affordable community based home health and hospice services to people in the comfort of their homes.

In the face of rising healthcare costs, nursing shortages, shrinking reimbursement and regulatory changes to the health care system, RAVNAH has continued to identify community needs and provide essential cost-effective health care services to some of Rutland County's most vulnerable individuals. We are proud to report that we continue to be a community leader in guiding and shaping the future of home health, preventative and long-term care services, including home care, hospice, maternal-child health and community programs. Our services not only promote a healthy community, but also support individual dignity and independence in the home.

We are proud to report on a number of successes we have achieved:

- Provided over 1,200 hours of volunteer service in our Hospice Program.
- Initiated Hospice Palliative Care Program
- Instituted Options Counseling for nursing home admissions
- Collaborated with Wilcox Pharmacy in the Synagis® Program for patients with respiratory syncytial virus
- Provided over 3700 flu vaccinations
- Prepared for compliance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act

We could not have been successful without our dedicated staff. RAVNAH's staff and volunteers made over 84,000 visits to 2,494 different patients. In the town of Ira we provided 44 visits to 2 individuals.

To the individuals and organizations of the town of Ira that have supported us during 2003 we are truly thankful. With your support, RAVNAH will continue to meet our mission "to enhance the quality of life of all we serve through comprehensive home and community health services."

Again, we say thank you for your support.

Over the past four years the Poultney-Mettowee Watershed Partnership has completed many great projects. We are truly motivated and excited by the tremendous conservation work that is taking place in our watershed. We encourage you to become involved in the Partnership and work with us to improve the quality of the watershed and the communities in which we live. Please support our request for financial assistance from your town's general fund. Together we can really make a difference.

The Poultney Mettowee watershed is the entire land area that drains into either the Poultney or the Mettowee Rivers.

Our History

The Partnership began in summer 1998 with a few people talking together and realizing that their organizations were working towards many of the same conservation goals. As a result, our unique, bi-state partnership began, focusing on our mutual concerns for protection of natural resources and water quality. The Partnership has completed many projects throughout the watershed. Highlights for 2003 include riparian buffer plantings in four towns, leading summer programs for local youth, maintaining the native plant nursery in cooperation with The Nature Conservancy, volunteer work days and scientific data collection and monitoring of the rivers. The time and advice of committee members is invaluable and we sincerely thank them. Based on their knowledge, we increased public awareness and have begun to find solutions to issues and concerns throughout the watershed.

Our Future

Some projects currently underway, or still in the planning stages, include:

- Water quality monitoring of the Poultney River.
- Producing stock in our native plant nursery to supply material for floodplain and Clay Plain forest restoration projects in partnership with the Nature Conservancy.
- A landowner outreach project that supplies trees for riparian landowners that will address high temperatures in the Mettowee River.
- Conducting a detailed assessment of local rivers using volunteers.
- Leading environmental service projects for youth in the watershed.
- Increase nutrient management assistance to agricultural producers.

The Partnership brings together the outstanding conservation work in the Poultney and Mettowee rivers, so that we can benefit from each others' experiences and knowledge, and together be stronger in our common goal.

Get Involved

Contact either of us, or the project coordinators (phone 802 287 4284), to request a copy of our annual report of accomplishments. Or visit our website: www.poultneymettowee.org. Let us know what concerns you have, what problems you see, and what help you would like to address them. We look forward to hearing from you, and working with you in the future.
