CDC Awards $16 Million to States and Territories to Fight Zika

CDC has awarded more than $16 million to 40 states and territories to establish, enhance, and maintain systems for the early detection of microcephaly—a serious birth defect of the brain—and other adverse outcomes caused by Zika infection.

This funding will also help states and territories ensure that infants and their families are referred to appropriate medical and social services. Finally, the awards will enable states and territories to monitor the health and developmental outcomes of children affected by Zika.
