These look good to me. I'd like to share the Law Enforcement section only with David Cahill from the State's Attorney Assn and John Treadwell from the AG's office.

As to inviting an advisory group to review, I don't think that is necessary at this point. Certainly prior to and during the official rulemaking we should seek broad public input.

Did a quick look see and will do more later.

One question... do we need to invite in an advisory group to help us construct protocols so we have input before we go public in case we overlook something

Attached is a Draft Hemp testing protocol for review and comment.

Lots of room for improvement and amendment, for certain.
