Lt. Governor to work at Milne Travel as tour director for World Series Game One

Lt. Governor Phil Scott continues his "Vermont Everyday Jobs Tour" on Wednesday, Oct. 23, working as a tour director on Milne Travel's bus to Game One of the 2013 World Series. An avid Boston Red Sox fan, Lt. Gov. Scott will find out what it takes to safely coordinate a group trip and bring a busload of Vermonters to Fenway Park. In this "Everyday Job," Lt. Gov. Scott will make sure all passengers are informed of the day's schedule, account for all passengers upon entering the bus and before departing Boston, and attempt to keep them entertained on the ride. The Lt. Governor will also continue his 2013 tradition of tweeting support for the Red Sox. Follow him on Twitter: @PhilScottVT.

Milne Travel is an independent, family-owned travel management company. Originally founded by Marion Milne in Barre, Vt., in 1975, the travel agency has the largest geographic footprint of any New England-based travel agency with ten office locations in Vermont, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and New York.
