The bill proposes to make it illegal for an employer to ask for a person's criminal history record information on its initial employee application form.

2. Is there a need for this bill? Please explain why or why not.

Many people with criminal backgrounds do not get jobs because they can never get an interview, even if they are well qualified for a job.

3. What are likely to be the fiscal and programmatic implications of this bill for this Department?

There may be a negligible increased work load for the wage and hour division, though enforcement will be with the attorney general's office.

4. What might be the fiscal and programmatic implications of this bill for other departments in state government, and what is likely to be their perspective on it?

None

5. What might be the fiscal and programmatic implications of this bill for others, and what is likely to be their perspective on it? (for example, public, municipalities, organizations, business, regulated entities, etc)

Businesses will have to make sure they are not asking for that information on the initial application. They can ask at the interview process or after the initial application process.

6. Other Stakeholders:

6.1 Who else is likely to support the proposal and why?

Prisoner's rights advocates, Vermont Legal Aid, ACLU

6.2 Who else is likely to oppose the proposal and why?

Business groups such as AIV, Grocers, the Chambers.

7. Rationale for recommendation: Justify recommendation stated above.

It is important for as many people as possible to get into a job and become functioning members of society. Being able to obtain gainful employment for ex-offenders reduces recidivism rates.
