Governor Peter Shumlin

Dear Governor Shumlin,

I am writing to show support for the bold plan to move Vermont to 90% renewable energy by 2050. I am also writing because I am not a Vermonter. Rather, I am a supporter of clean energy, and a potential Vermont tourist.

If Vermont pursues this ambitious energy plan, including an increase in wind generation, know that my desire to visit will not diminish. Rather, my family and I would be more likely to visit Vermont and support your efforts towards a greener tomorrow.

Vermont has an incredible opportunity to be a leader in renewable energy. It would be fitting for the Green Mountain State to also be known as the Green Energy State. I hope that my own home state may soon follow your lead.

Thank you, Governor Shumlin for being a leader on this issue. Please take this letter into account when deciding the appropriate role for wind power in Vermont.

Sincerely,

Dear Governor Shumlin,

Governor: I am a 7th generation Vermonter and ended up in Boston because there was no opportunities for me at the time. Now, with your help, you can create a job haven in Vermont for all the locals and change the world while you are at it. I have always been surprised that Vermont has done such a poor job with wind when we as Vermonters were into a clean environment way before anyone else knew what we were taking about. You have to pay close attention to who is behind this

"anti" group so I am writing to show support for the bold plan to move Vermont to 90% renewable energy by 2050. I am also writing because I am not a Vermonter. Rather, I am a supporter of clean energy, and a potential Vermont tourist.

Rather, I am a supporter of clean energy, and a Vermont tourist. Every year, our family visits friends who have a place near Queechee Gorge. We absolutely love it there, and would enjoy it even more if we knew the energy we were using on our visit was primarily from renewable resources.

Dear Governor Shumlin,

I am writing to show support for the bold plan to move Vermont to 90% renewable energy by 2050. I am also writing because I am not a Vermonter. Rather, I am a supporter of clean energy, and a cross-country skier and camper. If Vermont pursues this ambitious energy plan, including an increase in wind generation, know that my desire to visit will not diminish. Rather, I would be more likely to visit Vermont and support your efforts towards a greener tomorrow.

Vermont has an incredible opportunity to be a leader in renewable energy. It would be fitting for the Green Mountain State to also be known as the Green Energy State. I hope that my own home state may soon follow your lead.

Thank you, Governor Shumlin for being a leader on this issue. Please take this letter into account when deciding the appropriate role for wind power in Vermont.

Sincerely,

Dear Governor Shumlin,

I am writing to show support for the bold plan to move Vermont to 90% renewable energy by 2050. I am also writing because I am not a Vermonter. Rather, I am a supporter of clean energy, and a potential Vermont tourist.

If Vermont pursues this ambitious energy plan, including an increase in wind generation, know that my desire to visit will not diminish. Rather, my family and I would be more likely to visit Vermont and support your efforts towards a greener tomorrow.

Vermont has an incredible opportunity to be a leader in renewable energy. It would be fitting for the Green Mountain State to also be known as the Green Energy State. I hope that my own home state may soon follow your lead.

Thank you, Governor Shumlin for being a leader on this issue. Please take this letter into account when deciding the appropriate role for wind power in Vermont.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Lauren Herbert
