Vermont Council on Rural Development's Summit on:

Creating Prosperity and Opportunity Confronting Climate Change

February 18, 2015

Vermont Technical College

The Vermont Council on Rural Development's Summit on "Creating Prosperity and Opportunity Confronting Climate Change" on February 18, 2015 will bring together scientists, innovative business, non-profit, and community leaders, elected officials, public policy advocates, students, and interested residents. Together, participants will consider the impacts of climate change on Vermont and propose ways to advance the prosperity of the state while addressing them. The Summit will focus on how the emerging opportunities will allow us to build a national reputation, create jobs, and attract young people to our rural communities.

Visit www.vtrural.org for more information on the Summit and the work to come!

The Vermont Council on Rural Development is a non-profit organization charged by the federal farm bill to act as a neutral convener at both the local and policy level supporting the progress of Vermont communities.
