Northeast Kingdom Waste Management District
2003 Report for the Town of East Haven

The Northeast Kingdom Waste Management District provides many services for the town of East Haven. Most people know us as the recycling center on Church Street in Lyndonville, but we are much more than that. Materials such as used motor oil, fluorescent bulbs, hazardous waste, electronics, scrap metal, and lead-acid batteries are also accepted year round, and hazardous waste is collected during the summer.

Last year the NEKWMD processed the paperwork to re-certify the East Haven transfer station. The 2003 recycling rate for the Town of East Haven was 26%. Every ton of trash costs approximately $100, while recycling costs $61.86 per ton in hauling fees. Therefore, as residents recycle more the town can lower its overall waste management costs. 29.34 tons of scrap metal was also removed from a site in East Haven with the District's assistance.

The NEKWMD runs a household hazardous waste collection through the summer months at the Lyndonville recycling center. This is open to residents and conditionally exempt generator businesses from all NEKWMD towns. One East Haven resident and the school used this service during 2003, and many others dropped off used motor oil, batteries, and bulbs at the Lyndonville Depot.

The money for the NEKWMD budget comes from the sale of recyclables (20%), State grants (3%), hauling fees (8%), miscellaneous fees and income (9%), and a surcharge on every ton of trash disposed of from NEKWMD towns (60%). This surcharge is dropping from $21.50 to $21.00 for 2004 – this is the fourth year in a row that the surcharge has dropped. Residents of the Town of East Haven paid about .5% of the District budget in 2003, based on hauling fees and surcharge.

We are looking forward to a full slate of events during 2004. The hazardous waste depot will be open from June 1 to October 1 by appointment. Clothing drop and swaps are scheduled for April 9 - 10 and September 10 - 11 at the Fenton Chester arena in Lyndonville – these events have grown in popularity over the last two years, and we now regularly send 2/3 of the clothing collected back into the community for reuse!

Please give us a call at 626-3532 with any questions, comments, or waste management issues that you have. We can also be reached by e-mail at progmgr@nekwmd.org or on the web at www.nekwmd.org.

Thank you and happy recycling!

Franklin R. Higgins, Town Clerk

East Haven River School
2003 – 2004

New is the key word here at the East Haven River School this year. Mr. Devenger, after many loyal years, decided to retire, and Aleta, the school's Administrative Assistant, moved from the area. After a couple of months of learning the ropes, things have finally smoothed out. Karen Sjolander has done a wonderful job replacing Aleta and keeping the school running. The staff has been patient and helpful with the transition, and the support from the community has been a blessing.

One of our goals this year was to improve school/community relations. We raised money this past Fall to buy t – shirts for the students and staff and they are available to anyone in the community. These shirts show our new mascot, the moose, and have the saying, "1 School + 1 Town = 1 Community". Another way we plan on keeping the community aware of school happenings and student achievements is through a school newspaper. We had hoped to have had the paper up and running last Fall, but found it involved more work and time.

I'm excited to announce that for the first time ever, our school will be participating in the Burke Mountain Ski Program. We have also added skating for those students who would rather not ski. Our goal is to go for five weeks in February and March. The students worked hard to raise the money and we would like to thank the community for their support!

In trying to keep up to date with the state standards, our school has revamped the report cards in all grades, showing how the student's grades align with the state standards.

The school is excited for some of the changes that have occurred and we are looking forward to many more memorable moments in the future.

Sincerely,

Derek Dudley
Principal

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Two important initiatives are occurring in the district that focus on the traditional and central 3 R's of Reading, Writing, and 'Rithmetic albeit through the lens of modern and rigorous state and national standards. Federal funds have enabled skilled math teachers within CNSU to provide guidance and training to their colleagues. Federal funds have permitted the purchase of consulting services in English Language Arts from experts throughout Vermont. District teachers are devoting hours to honing their teaching knowledge and skills with the help of these professionals. In addition, initiatives are underway to offer alternative programming through Lyndon Institute for high school students and to create a regional collaborative to serve Caledonia County students on the autistic spectrum.

Although the media has reported on turnover among principals and superintendents in Vermont, relatively little attention has focused on the turnover of school directors. The school board plays the critical role of setting the overall direction of the school, reviewing the performance of staff and students, and monitoring the budget. Without sustained leadership, including that of the school board, schools flounder. Please support the efforts of your school directors and consider serving in the post yourself.

The budget recommended by the School Board is for Fiscal Year 2004-2005 (FY05). It reflects the transition from the Act 60 education funding formula to the formula established by the Legislature in Act 68. Under Act 68 the grand list will be split between homestead property and all other property. The education tax rate for homestead property will depend on the level of per pupil spending in your school district; the rate for all other property is set uniformly throughout Vermont by the Legislature.

In recent years the student population in Vermont has been declining. Accordingly, taxpayers rightfully ask if school costs can be reduced. I would make two observations: 1) In many settings, the per pupil cost cannot be held at previous levels because, although enrollment has dropped, a) the basic physical plant maintenance needs remain the same, b) regulations imposed at the state and federal level require the school to provide specific programs and services, and c) the public demands and authorizes programming beyond traditional academic instruction. 2) Vermonters cherish the benefits of community schools with small classes. Large savings in school budgets cannot be achieved without larger class sizes. Against this backdrop school boards struggle to control their expenditure budgets.

I value the contribution that each of you make to the budget discussion as well as the time and talent that you volunteer to your local school. No work, no legacy is more important than the preparation of children and youth to assume the responsibilities of adulthood.

The East Haven After-School Program
2003-2004

The East Haven After-School Program serves 43 students, providing a snack, supervised homework time with assistance, and an organized educational activity. Diverse educational activities range from a hands on AKA Science program to Tae-Kwon-Do. Our goal is to offer students with a safe and productive place to go.

After school- programs have a small, though statistically significant positive impact on student achievement in reading and mathematics. Students who participate in extracurricular activities have better grades, feel a greater attachment to school, have lower truancy rates, and reach higher levels of achievement in college.

Sincerely,

Tonya Caron

Mathematics Support

The schools of Burke, East Haven, Miller's Run, Newark, and Sutton have benefited during the 2003-2004 school year from support offered in the area of mathematics. This support has been provided by Amy Patoine-Gale, through a position created and funded by federal Title IIA grants. As Mathematics Teacher Leader, Amy has worked in the classrooms of many teachers in these schools. Support has taken a variety of forms, including coaching teachers in best practices in mathematics instruction, teaching model lessons for teachers to observe, planning instruction with teachers, facilitating meetings, and providing coursework related to mathematics.

One of the priorities identified for the Math Teacher Leader was to assist in the formation of mathematics teams within each of the five schools. The math team meetings bring teachers within the school together on a regular basis to confer on issues pertinent to mathematics instruction. Topics such as the new grade level expectations for state testing in mathematics are discussed. Plans are made to provide teachers and students with the instruction necessary to help improve understanding and results on assessments. The Mathematics Teacher Leader assists in implementing those plans, either within a classroom, across the school, or supervisory union wide, whatever is most appropriate.

SPECIAL EDUCATION SERVICES UPDATE

The Caledonia North Supervisory Union has a commitment to, and engages in, practices designed to support the free, appropriate, public education of students with a wide range of disabilities in the general education setting as appropriate for each student. This commitment is based on and aligned with the federal law, Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) of 1975. The regular education classroom is the first placement option for all students with disabilities in our district with proper consideration for their individual need for appropriate supports. Not all students with disabilities will necessarily be placed in the regular education classroom full time; the individual's program and placement will be determined in accordance with the student's rights as provided by IDEA. Each school in this district is committed to the least restrictive environment based on an individual's disability and learning style.

Support for general education access and the use of a variety of service delivery models for serving the needs of students with disabilities drives the need for paraprofessionals. The fact is, the number of special education referrals is rising as more and more students are coming to school with severe emotional and behavioral concerns along with learning impairments that impact on the regular education environment. Students who are not making appropriate progress in general education in meeting the Vermont standards/curriculum are then referred to special education for supplemental services. Ever-increasing standards and high-stakes accountability demanded by the state and federal government continue to add to the increase in special education identification and costs.

Vermont Act 230, adopted in 1990, requires a prescribed educational support system in each school to catch and remediate learning problems early on and to reduce referrals to the special education system. School districts are required to develop a Comprehensive System of Education Services that include an Education Support Team and system to provide supports to help all students be successful in school. In 2000 the Vermont Legislature passed Act 117. This Act mandated that schools develop a support system to increase participation of students in the regular education environment and to provide them with support regardless of their eligibility for categorical programs. The EST team, composed of several education staff members, assists teachers in developing accommodations and supports for their struggling students. It also requires school districts to provide training opportunities for ALL teachers and administrators on meeting the needs of all students. The intent of the act was to increase the ability of the school to meet the needs of students in the regular education environment without relying on alternative programs. The Education Support System may include services that are operated under different federal programs such as Title I, Section 504, and Special Education. Examples of programs are: Reading Recovery, guidance, nutrition services, teacher advisors, mentoring programs, Early Essential Education, Success by Six and Head Start. Funding for these programs is supported with a variety of local, state and federal funds. The fact that special education costs are rising faster than any other area of education is of great concern all over Vermont.

Questions and concerns continue to come up over the high cost of educating disabled students and the impact on the regular education environment. At the time IDEA was made law, many students with disabilities were not getting proper educational services, and at times no services at all. We continue to face many challenges in educating all students. Increases in costs are driven by the higher special education services count and related increases in the need for paraprofessionals to assist in educating ALL students appropriately.

Each school in the CNSU district shares in the commitment to meet the individual educational needs of all students. Although Vermont has a policy of inclusion, a pull-out model continues to be the most appropriate placement for students with more severe issues and educational needs. The demand for special education services and supports remain high in our district. IDEA protects and provides for all handicapped students, whatever the cost, to provide a "free and appropriate public education." Special education costs cannot easily be reduced unless there are alternative support services for kids. Act 230 was adopted to provide early, less costly, alternatives for students. CNSU schools continue to provide support to students through their Educational Support Systems.
