

Map 2 - Chittenden County Future Land Use

The future land use in Chittenden County is represented by the Planning Areas concept. The ECOS Plan uses the Planning Areas concept to identify places that share similar existing features and future planning goals. The basis for the future planning goals is municipal zoning. The Planning Areas aim to describe the appropriate type of future growth expected in each Planning Area. The Planning Areas also aim to illustrate a regional picture of future land use policies in the County necessary to promote a regional conversation about land use in Chittenden County municipalities.

