Subject: Quick note re: permit reform

Put this in the category of things you probably already know and that I am sharing just in case: Dawn Francis approached me today to offer to help if we need it with the permit appeals legislation. The chamber is supportive of the record review approach. I discussed briefly with her to make sure the chamber would still be okay with the concepts we are putting forth given that we are really talking about a modified record review. She seemed to get it. Dawn has been talking with Warren Coleman which is a good thing I think. In a brief conversation with Warren earlier this week, it was clear that he has a good understanding of the issues.
