

Good morning, Denise

It is disturbing to me that a vocal minority of the citizenry of the City of Montpelier continues to insist on special treatment in restricting public access to Berlin Pond, a public water resource. If the City of Montpelier wants control over their public water supply, perhaps they should find a resource within their city limits.

I want Berlin Pond to remain open to the public with no restrictions on fishing, boating, trapping or hunting.

Please forward this email to all committee members of the Government Operations board. Please protect our Sportsman's rights.

Thank you,
Gregory Lord
