Hi all,

Thanks very much for sending this information.

Sarah, one more question for you about this: In an earlier email, you said you outlined the "costs paid by the Governor's Office" relating to the two charter flights. Does that mean the total cost of those charters was more? Or am I reading too much into that?

Sue, I have a couple final questions for you as well:

-Why is it necessary for the governor to fly to Rutland, Bennington and Brattleboro when he visits those parts of the state? What do taxpayers get out of the expense?

-Why is it necessary for the state to charter planes for the governor?

-Why did the state pay $936 to charter a plane to Rhode Island for a Brown University panel? How was this state business? Did this have something to do with the governor's DGA business or the fact that his daughter was attending Brown?

-Lastly, can you tell me how the governor and his team got to the Adirondack challenge event and who paid for their travel?

Thanks again,
Paul
