We know that fossil fuels cause harm to the environment. The last thing Vermont needs is to invest in a technology that we know is bad for health, the lands that we steward, and our communities. At the very minimum, we need to commit to not building more fossil fuel infrastructure that we know will harm us until we need to pay to replace it. Vermont does not need more fossil fuel infrastructure (if anything we should be paying to dismantle what we already have). Our citizens do not want to give up their land through eminent domain. I don't want to have to worry about fossil fuels in my community's water supply.

Let us move forward on more sustainable energy and energy efficiency and turn our back on fossil fuels as fast as we can. There is no time to waste.

Sincerely,
Katie Wilson
