Dear Shane:

I would like to extend my sincere congratulations on your graduation from the Seattle Police Academy.

Your father is incredibly proud of you, and I understand why. Your record of service and selflessness make it clear that you are one of those rare people who look at the world and don't see problems, but rather, see solutions. We need more like you, more whose first instinctual question to others is: "How can I help?"

Again, my congratulations on your impressive achievement.

Best regards,

Phil Scott
