Dear Monica:

I'd like to take this opportunity to offer you my congratulations for being named the 2015 Vermont Small Business Person of the Year. This marks an historic moment in your life and serves as an indication that Vermont Precision Tools will see even greater prosperity in the future under your leadership. I want to extend my sincere thanks for your commitment to growing Vermont's economy.

People like you set the bar for what can be achieved in Vermont's economic environment. As a business owner myself I understand the challenges associated with growing a business from the ground up. A business leader must have vision, ambition, and a strong work ethic to be successful. Your careful planning and connection with your team of 300 employees has set you apart from the pool of competition. I think your attitude toward expansion is indicative of why you deserve this award and demonstrates your immense value to this state.

This award has been 47 years in the making, and there is not a doubt in my mind that you are deserving of everything it represents. You have instilled hope in the eyes of Vermonters, including myself, that we will see a brighter economic future in this state, one which brings prosperity to all of those around us.

Best regards,

Phil Scott
