Secretary of State Announces Awards Winners of 2011 Poster and Essay Contest

Montpelier. Secretary of State Jim Condos will honor the winners of the 2011 Vermont Secretary of State's Poster and Essay Contest on Monday, May 23rd at the State House in Montpelier.

As part of the awards celebration, contest winners will tour the Vermont State House and the Vermont Historical Society. At 12:30 p.m., in an award ceremony in the State House cafeteria, the first prize winning students will be presented with a certificate and a $100 prize donated to each student's classroom to spend on civics education. There are also a number of honorable mentions for outstanding work.

"It was very difficult to select winners from the many fine essays and creative posters we received," stated Secretary Condos. "This program is a great way to get younger students thinking about their state and its history, while encouraging older students to examine the nature of self governance and its importance in a free society," said Condos.

The Vermont Secretary of State's Poster and Essay Contest is an annual event to promote awareness of Vermont history, the Vermont Constitution, and the importance of democracy among students in Grades K-12. Nearly 400 Vermont students participated in the contest by submitting posters or essays.

The winning posters and essays may be viewed on the Secretary of State's Kids Page website at www.sec.state.vt.us
