The Vt Press Bureau is sniffing around about the number of plates sold and our celebration of 25,000 plates. This is just a heads up, it may not feel pretty but I thought our message needed to be 25,000 plates manufactured and ready for sale.

Two updates on the IAVS license plate front:

1. Sen. Leahy will be holding up the plate at the Taste of Vermont this Thursday in DC; we have furnished Ted Brady a sample plate and brochures for the registration table.
2. Ben & Jerry's Retail Store at the Waterbury Factory site will be selling the plate! I'll be introducing the B&J team to Cherie Yaeger at DMV later this morning to work through purchasing logistics.

Betsy, I'm ready to schedule a National Life sales event when you are.....

1. How many plates have come off the assembly line? 28,035 2. Total cost the state has incurred to produce those plates? $136,250.10 ($4.86 per plate) 3. Number of plates sold? 7832 4. Plate-generated revenue taken in by the DMV? $195,800 5. Plate-generated revenue sent by the DMV to the Vermont Disaster Relief Fund?

VT Disaster Relief = $140,976 Food Bank = $15,664 (as of May 15, 2012. April money transfers are in process and included in this amount.)

6. Number of plates being held on consignment at retail outlets across the state?

Here is a breakdown of stock –

Total Plates Ordered = 28,035
-9990 (Bulk orders to vendors)
-3800 (currently residing at VCI)
-4000 (For VT Life Sales)
-2413 (At DMV Locations)
-7832 (Plates Sold and monies collected)
Total = 28,035

In addition, I'm hoping you can help me better understand the process by which money flows from the DMV to the relief fund.

The money from VTStrong plates is processed by DMV as it is received. Once a month we transfer money to VT Disaster Relief and VT Foodbank for money collected the prior. Transfers for the month of April are in process.

I understand there's some sort of 30-day window between when the check is cashed and when it goes to the fund. No, the 30 day window relates to the window that retail vendors have to pay DMV for the VTStrong plates they receive. The money is processed through our system as it is received, but we make one transfer to each organization once a month.

Hi Peter;

As I had said earlier, we had a day that was pretty well scripted before the doors opened. I do have 2 people who just ended a meeting with a potential vendor who are now working your questions. They may not have a response until tomorrow.

I will be traveling to New Orleans tomorrow for a conference and we may find it hard to make connections until the evening. If the message does not come from me, it will be from Jeri Mullins.

Hi Rob,

Sorry to pester you, but my email was down for most of the day and I just wanted to make sure someone from the DMV didn't try to send me some answers only to have the email kick back.

In any event, if you can't get things together until tomorrow, then I understand. It would be great to have the info by mid-day Wednesday if possible, and then also to have a follow-up conversation with you by phone, if needed.

Ultimately, I'm trying to understand the disconnect between the number of plates sold - 25,000, as of April 5 - and the amount of money that has been given to the the Vermont Disaster Relief Fund, which, as I understand it, amounts to only about $91,000 as of today.

Thanks again,

Peter

Gov. Shumlin presents 25,000th 'I Am Vermont Strong' license plate to emergency responders

Urges Vermonters to buy the plates; funds to help Vermonters impacted by flooding

MONTPELIER – Gov. Peter Shumlin was joined today by firefighters, store owners, ski area representatives and others in celebrating the sale of the 25,000th 'I Am Vermont Strong' license plate, marking the half-way mark to the eventual sale of 50,000 of the plates. Money from the license plate sales is earmarked for Vermont families impacted by flooding in 2011, as well as the Vermont Foodbank. The Governor reminded Vermonters that the need for assistance following devastating spring floods and Tropical Storm Irene remains strong.

"I am urging people to continue to support their neighbors who suffered damage to their homes during last year's storms by buying a VTStrong license plate," Gov. Shumlin said. "These plates reflect the spirit that makes Vermont strong and the funds are critical in helping Vermonters recover from the devastation of the May and August flooding."

The $25 plate can be affixed to the front of most vehicles or bought as souvenirs. The goal is to sell 50,000 plates to raise $1 million for the Disaster Relief Fund, and the Governor bought the first plate in February to present to the Corliss family of Berlin, whose mobile home was destroyed by flood waters. Today the Governor bought the 25,000th plate, presenting it to Barre Fire Department Capt. Keith Cushman and thanking all emergency responders across the state for their help during the 2011 storms.

"Vermont's firefighters, emergency responders, police officers, National Guard troops and others stepped forward to save lives and property during both storms," Gov. Shumlin said, presenting the plate to Capt. Cushman. The historic plate will remain on a Barre fire truck for a period of time before being shared with other departments across the state, and eventually donated to the Vermont Fire Academy for display. Firefighters from Montpelier and other local units were on hand today for the event. The Governor noted that the St. Johnsbury Fire Department has purchased 'I Am Vermont Strong' plates for its fire trucks, and the Barre firefighters plan to do the same.

To date, the relief fund has raised $XXX,XXX, and distributed $XXXXXX to XX families across the state (see attachment for an example of some of the individual stories – Betsy, I'm going to attach your vignettes). In addition, $XXXX is expected to go to the Vermont Foodbank.

Gov. Shumlin also thanked the organizations and individuals who have been selling the plates, including member of the Vermont Ski Areas Association and the Vermont Grocers Association (Price Chopper took 1,750 plates and is the biggest purchaser; Shaw's, Maplefields and Hannaford's also have made large purchases). In addition, he thanked businesses like National Life and others that have stepped forward to help with Irene and flood recovery in other ways.

The Vermont Disaster Relief Fund was created following the spring flooding a year ago. When Irene struck Vermont in August, Gov. Shumlin formalized and established a governing body for the fund, which is chaired by David Coates of Colchester. The fund is the primary vehicle for providing disaster assistance to individuals.

And speak briefly about how proud he was of his troops in the aftermath of Irene. I'm happy to ask if you think that's a better plan, but I know you have a relationship with him.

Our goal with the presser is to re-generate enthusiasm for the plates because there is still so much need out there. Fortunately, the plates are selling really well!

Just FYI, Barre Fire Department plans to buy plates for all their trucks, so TOMORROW the Gov will buy the 25,000 plate, officially present it to Capt. Keith Cushing from Barre, and they will put the plate on a new truck parked in front of DMV (spaces already reserved by Montpelier Police Dept). Also attending will be Montpelier Fire Department, and the Governor will use this presentation as a symbolic thanks to all the Fire, Police and EMT (and any other emergency responders) who helped during the spring flooding and Irene.

Barre was most active during spring flooding, but donated equipment to Northfield and other nearby communities during Irene.

In addition, Barre Chief Tim Bombardier will announced that his truck will use the plate for a while, but share it with Montpelier and other smaller departments before eventually donating it framed and engraved to the Fire Academy for permanent display.

Gov will note that St. Johnsbury Fire Department has already outfitted their fire trucks with Strong plates.

Hope this sounds good to everyone. Mayor Lauzon will come; Tim Bombardier will come (he is fire and police chief for Barre); probably should invite Mary Hooper (she's still mayor, right?) and/or John Hollar ...

Thoughts?

Yes. Do you have room in your waiting room? I guess if we get TOO big we could move out to the front lobby just inside the door, but waiting room would be better I think.

I will bring over a podium in the morning. You will have a plate, right? Do you have extras in case others want to buy one?

Here's my speaker list at this point:

Governor
Lt. Gov (awaiting confirmation, pretty sure he's coming)
Doug Bishop, the Chair of our Allocations Committee
Sen. Mazza
Rep. Brennan
Parker Riehle or more likely Win Smith or Wayne Smith from Jay
Jim Harrison or more likely a grocer
Barre Fire Dept. Captain Keith Cushing (with uniformed fire fighters from Barre and Montpelier)

Gov will buy the plate, and everyone will move outside to put it on the fire truck parked out front (fingers crossed for sunshine!).

I'll circulate a draft press release in 30 mins.

Everyone, I have NOT picked anyone to buy the plate. I need input ... how do we make that happen? Asking a Guardsman or woman to buy a plate seems wrong somehow, right? So any of us (I don't) know someone who truly plans to buy one that we could ask to be out 25,000th? Or do we not actually sell a plate, but celebrate the sale of the 25,000th that occurred earlier that day, week?

Welcome some good thinking on this!

Hi Sue,

I am sending over a few stories of grants made by the Vermont Disaster Relief Fund to our survivors. Doug Bishop, the Chair of our Allocations Committee, has agreed to represent David (he is unavailable on Thursday) at the event and report on some of the good work we are doing. I have also attached a list of the bulk purchasers/retail locations so we can thank our partners.

It is worth mentioning that while the Governor loves to joke with Chris at our events, National Life has been an incredible corporate support for the Fund, much of the work we do would not be possible without their tireless support of us!

I am in meeting a marathon meeting until around noon today, but free most of the afternoon if you need anymore information.

Thanks,
Betsy

Northfield Bridge Case funded at $13,000

Husband and wife (who is handicapped) had access to their home with a bridge that was adequate for the usual flow of river. They also had 6 cords of wood to heat home. The bridge was totally destroyed; 6 cords of wood lost; as well as household goods and inventory for home business (6 cases of sunglasses). The wife uses a walker and cane and has not been able to live in the house (cannot walk across bridge and up to the house) since September. The cost to rebuild the bridge was estimated at $60,000. Their unmet need after all sources of funding was $13,000.

Stick built Home in Northfield, Funded at $20,000

A large family home in Northfield was flooded during Irene. Incoming water filled both basements and collapsed the foundation wall between them, as well as damaging other parts of the fieldstone foundation. The water breached the first floor, reaching a level from 4 inches, to over 2 feet on the first floor walls. Everything in the basement including washer, dryer, furnace, and hot water heater, was destroyed. Walls were gutted and the flooring removed. In all, 14 rooms (including 3 bathrooms) in the living area were affected, in addition to the garage and basement. After a difficult evacuation, the family was displaced for four months. Rebuilding work continues but at a reduced pace as the family's savings becomes depleted. They currently have an unmet need of over $40,000 but with some of the work being nonessential for them to be able to live comfortably in the home.

Woodstock Home – Funded at $3800

Basement was completely flooded, and all of the mechanical and electrical equipment was damaged by the water. Heating pipes were insulated with asbestos that was compromised by the flood waters, and asbestos needs to be removed by professional environmental hazard company. Owner is unable to live in house. Total project costs - $24,000 for heating and electrical replacement and the removal of the asbestos. The current unmet need for this project was $3800.

Woodstock Home – Funded at $10,000

The home is owned by a single mother of young child who is a part time in-home day care provider. Before Irene she was fully caught up with monthly obligations on house, car, and etc. payments. Irene displaced from her home for months causing her and her child to live with her parents. Due to the damage to the house, she had to temporarily close her business. The house and garage sustained significant damage and the land around house shifted and is causing ongoing concerns. Total Irene related costs exceed $55,000. The unmet need is the drainage work to install culvert and re-direct water which threatens house at an estimated cost of $19,000.

Woodstock Home – Funded at $10,000

A self-employed single mother of a young child with a low income who was making ends meet, with no outstanding debt pre-Irene. Her house sustained approximately $65,000 in Irene related damages with the basement being completely flooded and had to be gutted. Furnace and ductwork needed to be replaced. Back land of property washed away up to foundation of home. Foundation needed extensive repair and new retaining wall. Driveway washed away, first floor was flooded and all contents lost. Basement and first floor needed to be re-insulated. Foundation and retaining wall repair still needs to be done estimates are $30,000.

Woodstock Mobile Home – Funded at $3,000

Family up to date on monthly bills severely disabled adult son lives with them in a mobile home; access was never an issue pre-Irene. Water poured down the hill, shifting the land around the house and destroying the retaining wall and house access. Access for wheelchair is now difficult. Extensive run off into front yard threatens slippage if not repaired. Un-met need is $3,000 for materials to replace retaining wall and repair damage to include a load of hard pack to repair driveway. Owner will provide the labor.

A Berlin MH (River Run) case funded at $25,000

A retired women and her disabled adult daughter lost their mobile home in the May flooding. They have been staying with a family member since June, trying to find a way to get funding for a replacement mobile home. Due to the Mother's fixed monthly income and the daughter's disabilities they were unable to get traditional funding. With their FEMA funds and the VTDRF grant they have been able to purchase a replacement home and will be moving into it in the next few weeks.

A Duxbury MH case funded at $25,000

An elderly couple had lived in their home in Duxbury home for 14 years. The husband is retired and the wife is disabled and they live on a fixed income and are able to maintain a daily life by living in a mobile home. Irene destroyed their home and the park that they lived in was heavily damaged. Right after Irene they lived in a camper until the weather turned cold, at which point they moved into a family home in NY State. With their FEMA funds and a VDRG they are able to buy a new mobile home and will be moving in to it in the near future.

A Berlin MH case funded at $25,000

A 65 year old single woman who lives on a fixed income lived in her mortgage free mobile home in Weston's park in Berlin. When Irene hit, her mobile home had nearly 5 feet of water in it and she not only lost her home, she lost all of her possessions. She was forced to move into her Mother's senior housing apartment, where she has lived ever since. With her FEMA funds and the grant from the VDRG, she has purchased a new mobile home and will be moving into it in the next two weeks.
