Introduction

In 2013, the Department of Human Resources (DHR) implemented the first statewide survey assessing employee engagement to address the goal of developing workforce excellence using meaningful performance targets and measures. The State of Vermont Employee Engagement Survey has been conducted annually since and provides important information for DHR to stay current on the status of employee engagement in Vermont State Government. This survey process allows us to measure how employees feel about their daily work and about the State of Vermont as an employer. In addition, results can be compared to prior years to examine trends and establish goals for improved engagement.

For 2019 the survey, usually conducted in the fall, was moved to early in the calendar year to better align the survey to the calendar year and shorten the period between conducting the survey and publishing the results.

While there are several ways to define employee engagement, simply stated it is the degree to which an individual is committed to an organization and the extent to which he/she works to fulfill and advance a stated mission. The 2019 survey contained questions in the areas of:

- The relationship between job duties and the organization's mission/goals;
- Communication and input;
- Relationships and morale within the organization;
- The employee's relationship with supervisor;
- The impact of workload, staffing and resources; and
- Compensation and benefits.

In addition, for 2019 a special section was added to assess perceptions of issues related to diversity and inclusion.

Using the Report

The 2019 Engagement Survey provides a great deal of data from which stakeholders can glean information to improve organizational practices.

The first section of this report - Employee Engagement Survey Items: Summary of Key Findings - presents and discusses a high-level summary of key findings – results of all respondents to survey statements in each of the six engagement areas. It also provides the overall job satisfaction results. Results are also cross tabulated by department.

The second section looks at Engagement Survey Items – Summary and Trends. Here we examine the changes in agreement to survey items from 2014 to 2019.

The third section examines results of Engagement Survey Items cross tabulated by the demographic questions.

The fourth section examines Employment Engagement Results. Using an employee engagement model (See Table 31) employee engagement and its components are examined statewide and by department.

Finally, we provide a qualitative analysis of the responses to the survey's open-ended question.

Various Appendices contain demographic cross tabulations, results from 2014 to 2019 by department and statewide to department comparisons.

The analysis provided in this report is designed to be used by Agencies and Departments, as well as by DHR, as a guide to identify areas of success and improvement, and areas that may require additional investigation for next steps. It is meant to begin a process of discussion and dialogue that can result in improving staff relations, service to customers, organizational communication processes, and supervisory practices. The primary audiences for this report are all DHR stakeholders: DHR Divisions whose purpose is to provide leadership in employee hiring, retention and development; and Agency and Department leadership and managers, who can work with DHR to determine how best to use this information.

Methodology

Survey Instrument

The 2019 State of Vermont Employee Engagement Survey was designed to measure engagement across the Executive Branch of Vermont State Government.

The core survey structure remained the same as the 2017 survey. (After a review of the 2013 results in 2014 several new items were added, and others were revised for clarity). The 2019 survey contained questions in the areas of:

- Relationship of job duties to the mission and goals of the agency/department (6 items)
- Communication and input with the organization (4 items)
- Relationships and morale in the organization (9 items)
- Relationship with supervisor (12 items)
- Workload, staffing and resources (7 items)
- Compensation and benefits (6 items)

- Diversity and Inclusion (7 items)

The items selected for this survey are standard employee satisfaction and/or engagement items and track substantially with the questions and categories studied in the far-reaching landmark Gallup employee engagement poll. The survey also assessed overall job satisfaction.

In addition, for 2019 a special section was added to assess perceptions of issues related to diversity and inclusion.

Survey items appeared as statements for which respondents were instructed to select from a five-point scale of agreement: Strongly Agree, Agree, Neither Agree nor Disagree, Disagree, and Strongly Disagree.

In this 2019 survey two new demographic questions were added: identification as a member of a protected class and management level. This was in addition to employment type, age group, type of occupation, and agency/department.

See Appendix A for a list of all survey items.

Survey Administration

The survey was administered electronically via Survey Monkey. An email invitation was sent to all Executive Branch classified and exempt employees¹ using their “preferred” email address as indicated in VTHR on February 4, 2019. The survey was active from February 4 through February 15, 2019.

¹ The Department of State’s Attorneys and Sheriffs was not including in the sample.
Employee Engagement Survey Results - 2019

The survey sample included all classified and exempt employees of the Executive Branch employed during the survey period, 8,110 employees.

Of the 8,110 employees surveyed, 4,493 employees responded to the survey for an overall response rate of 55.4%. While this was a robust sample, since survey participation was voluntary it should be noted that this survey was based on a “convenience” sample of employees who chose to respond. Therefore, the reader should keep this in mind when interpreting results.

Data Analysis

The original survey instructed respondents to select from a five-point scale of agreement: Strongly Agree, Agree, Neither Agree nor Disagree, Disagree, and Strongly Disagree. For purposes of presentation in this report these were recoded to: Agree (combined Strongly Agree, Agree), Neutral (Neither Agree nor Disagree), and Disagree (Disagree, and Strongly Disagree).

Employee Engagement

An index of employee engagement was calculated – an “Employee Engagement Score.” This score is the average of six components of employee engagement. The model is presented in Table 31.²

It is important that each of the components or subscales has a level of “internal consistency” or reliability of the items that make up the component or subscale. In order to assess the degree to which a set of items measures a single construct we use a measure of internal consistency. This measure looks at how closely related (intercorrelated) a set of items are as a group. Cronbach’s Alpha is a statistical index of internal consistency. Cronbach’s alpha coefficients were calculated for all components. High internal consistency would be represented by a coefficient of .90 to 1.00. Good internal consistency is seen in the range of .70 to .90.

The following are the individual components or subscales, questions making up that component and the reliability of the scale as measured by Cronbach’s Alpha. All have high internal consistency.

Response Rates

Table 1 shows response rate by department. With an overall response rate of 55.4%, department response rates varied considerably. Note that Human Services Agency had a response rates greater than 100%. This can be attributed to respondents' uncertainty about department affiliation.

Characteristics of Survey Sample

To further understand the survey sample, the number of completed surveys and percent were compared with the percent in the employee population (data from the 2018 Workforce Report). These results are shown in Tables 2 to 6.

Most demographic results showed a relatively close match between survey representation and the employee population.

Job Duties and their Relationship to the Mission and Goals of Your Agency or Department

Table 7 displays percent agreement for all respondents to survey statements for “Job Duties and their Relationship to the Mission and Goals of your Agency or Department.”

Table 7 Job Duties and their Relationship to the Mission and Goals of your Agency or Department – All Respondents

More than 90% of respondents agreed that they understand their job duties and responsibilities (92.5%). A high level of agreement was also seen when asked if they understood the work, goals, and mission of their department or agency (90.2%) and that the work they perform is linked to their department or agency meeting its goals and mission (89.2%).

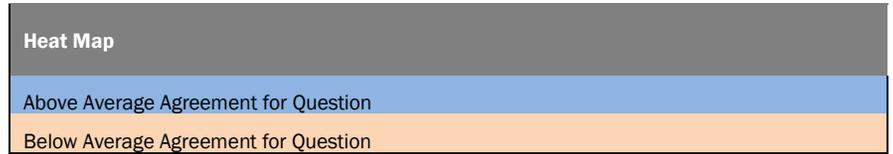

To a lesser extent, respondents agreed that they enjoy performing the day to day work of their job (78.4%) and that the work they perform is meaningful and rewarding (75.1%).

The lowest agreement was found among all respondents when asked if they would recommend the State of Vermont to others as a great place to work (71.6%). The relatively high level of “neutral” as a response shows the ambivalence respondents felt about this statement (19.3%).

Table 8 displays percent agreement for respondents by department to survey statements for “Job Duties and their Relationship to the Mission and Goals of your Agency or Department.” A “heat map” of responses is used to visually represent levels of agreement that are either equal to or greater than the average for that question or less than the average for that question. This is a visual tool to make both within and cross department comparisons.

Table 9 Communication and Input within your Organization – All Respondents

More than half of respondents agreed that management and senior leadership communicates important information in an effective manner (55.7%). However, over a quarter of respondents disagreed with this statement (26.5%).

More respondents felt they had an opportunity to communicate with and provide feedback to management and senior leadership (63.0%), were encouraged to share ideas on improving either service delivery or business process efficiency (60.3%), and that their department or agency works well with other departments and agencies (61.7%).

However, there was a relatively high level of “neutral” and “disagree” responses (all approximately 40%), which shows respondents’ ambivalence about these statements.

Table 13 displays percent agreement for all respondents to survey statements for “Your Supervisor.”

Table 13 Your Supervisor – All Respondents

On average, approximately 70% agreed to the range of statements regarding their supervisor (Q20 – Q26), but with relatively high levels of “neutral” and “disagree” responses (on average 30%), which shows that these supervisory items have variability based on other factors, such as across departments.

The lowest agreement among all respondents was when asked if their supervisor discussed and planned their career development with them (47.8%).

For all respondents, 71.4% agreed that their performance evaluations are completed annually. To a lesser extent, respondents agreed that the standards used to evaluate their performance were fair (64.6%), with a high level of “neutral” (24.4%), which shows respondents’ ambivalence about this statement.

Table 22 displays percent agreement for respondents by department to survey statements that were designed to assess perceptions of issues related to diversity and inclusion. A “heat map” of responses is used to visually represent levels of agreement that are either equal to or greater than the average for that question or less than the average for that question. This is a visual tool to make both within and cross department comparisons.

Engagement Survey Items – Summary and Trends

With the 2019 survey we now have six years of data from the base 2013 survey and five years from 2014 when several new items were added, and others were revised for clarity. The following Tables 23 to 29 show results for all respondents for the six survey question areas as well as overall satisfaction for 2014 to 2019, with analysis of patterns and changes. Discussion will focus on trends and what we can learn from the data. It should be noted that differences of only several percentage points are probably not meaningful and are likely due to sampling differences.

A “heat map” is used to visually represent both levels of agreement and change year-to-year.

Questions 1 - 3 have seen high agreement since the benchmark year and remained high with better than 90% agreement and with little variation. What this tells us is that employees feel they understand their job duties and department mission/goals.

While not as high, there is agreement above our 75% threshold for questions 4 and 5, again with little variation, that tells us that three out of four more of our employees enjoy performing the day to day work of their jobs and find their work meaningful and rewarding.

The one item in this category that has shown any significant improvement from 2014 to 2019 is Q6. From 66.2% to 71.6% (+8.1%). However, there was a drop of 3.6% from 2017 to 2019. This deserves further monitoring.

There are a group of questions that all show improvement that can reasonable be attributed to the emphasis on supervisory training, especially around performance management.

- Q20. My supervisor clearly explains my job performance expectations. From 67.0% to 73.5% (+9.8%).

- Q21. My supervisor regularly provides me with timely and useful feedback. From 59.3% to 66.9% (+12.7%).

Additional Resources

Appendix B contains responses for survey items by department for 2014 to 2019. Department results are too numerous to detail in this report. As with the responses for all respondents, differences of only several percentage points are probably not meaningful and are likely due to sampling differences. A careful review by key stakeholders is encouraged to identify areas that may require additional investigation for next steps.

Appendix C contains 2019 responses for survey items compared to the statewide average by department. Each item has a visual representation which is very useful in identifying areas that may require additional investigation for next steps.

Engagement Survey Items by Demographic Questions

Survey items were cross tabulated with the five demographic questions asked in the survey. While results are too numerous to detail in this report, some noteworthy findings are summarized below. Differences of only several percentage points are probably not meaningful and are likely due to sampling differences. The reader can find the complete cross tabulations in Appendix D.

Job Type

Respondents were asked to identify if they were a classified or an exempt employee. Job type showed frequent and significant differences, with exempt employees expressing greater agreement to many questions. Some examples (percent agreement shown):

- Q5. The work I perform is meaningful and rewarding (exempt, 83.9%; classified, 73.9%).
- Q7. Management and senior leadership communicates important information effectively (exempt, 70.5%; classified, 53.5%).
- Q8. I have an opportunity to provide feedback to management and senior leadership (exempt, 74.8%; classified, 61.8%).
- Q11. Morale in my department or agency is good (exempt, 56.6%; classified, 42.9%).
- Q12. The people I work with treat each other respectfully (exempt, 82.2%; classified, 70.8%).
- Q13. The people I work with care about me (exempt, 77.8%; classified, 66.8%).
- Q16. I feel I can communicate honestly and openly in my workplace (exempt, 74.1%; classified, 60.7%).
- Q23. I am satisfied with the recognition I receive from my supervisor for my work (exempt, 77.8%; classified, 64.9%).
- Q45. In general, I am satisfied with my job (exempt, 81.4%; classified, 76.4%).

Age Group

There were no meaningful differences among age groups for any survey questions. This is surprising given the typical generational differences one might expect.

Protected Class Identification

For the most part, there were no meaningful differences among protected class identification for any survey questions. One notable exception was that those who identified as a protected class were less likely to agree to the statement “The State has done a good job providing training programs that promote an understanding of diversity, equity and inclusion” (60.8% vs 71.4%).

Management Level

Respondents were asked to identify if they were a manager, supervisor or not a manager or supervisor. Much like job type, there were frequent and significant differences, with managers (and often supervisors also) expressing greater agreement to many questions. Some examples (percent agreement shown):

- Q5. The work I perform is meaningful and rewarding (manager, 88.5%; supervisor, 79.1%, not manager or supervisor, 73.8%).
- Q7. Management and senior leadership communicates important information effectively (manager, 67.8%; supervisor, 58.7%, not manager or supervisor, 54.9%).
- Q8. I have an opportunity to provide feedback to management and senior leadership (manager, 78.2%; supervisor, 69.3%, not manager or supervisor, 61.2%).
- Q11. Morale in my department or agency is good (manager, 55.6%; supervisor, 46.5%, not manager or supervisor, 44.0%).
- Q12. The people I work with treat each other respectfully (manager, 84.5%; supervisor, 77.2%, not manager or supervisor, 69.8%).
- Q13. The people I work with care about me (manager, 79.4%; supervisor, 74.1%, not manager or supervisor, 66.1%).
- Q16. I feel I can communicate honestly and openly in my workplace (manager, 79.9%; supervisor, 71.1%, not manager or supervisor, 59.2%).
- Q23. I am satisfied with the recognition I receive from my supervisor for my work (manager, 75.6%; supervisor, 68.2%, not manager or supervisor, 65.8%).
- Q45. In general, I am satisfied with my job (manager, 88.6%; supervisor, 78.5%, not manager or supervisor, 73.2%).

Occupational Group

Generally, there were no clear differences among the six occupational groups for the survey questions. However, there was a tendency for those indicating “Protective Services” to have lower agreement on several questions.

Employee Engagement Results

Overall employee engagement scores were calculated.³ The score is the average of the seven components of engagement as outlined in the model illustrated in Table 31, which shows the components and the questions that make up each component.⁴

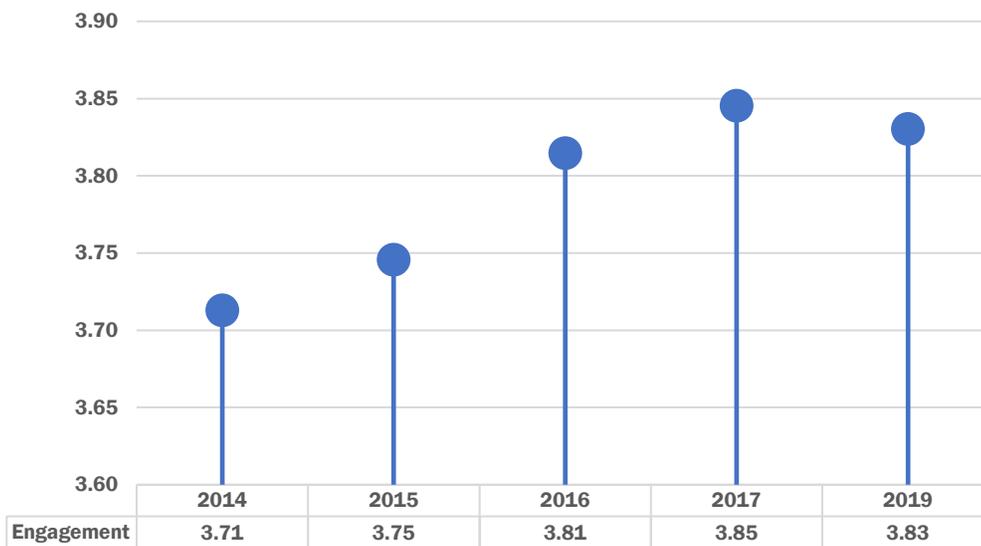

For 2019 the average employee engagement score was 3.83 out of a possible 5.0.

See Table 30 to compare employee engagement scores over time. Scores increased 3.6% from 2014 to 2017. There was a slight drop from 2017 to 2019.

Table 30- Engagement Scores - 2014 to 2019

Engagement scores increased 3.6% from 2014 to 2017

³ See Methodology on page 6.

⁴ Based on research reported in Vance, R.J. (2006) Employee Engagement and Commitment. Alexandria, VA: SHRM Foundation.

Table 31 – Employee Engagement Model

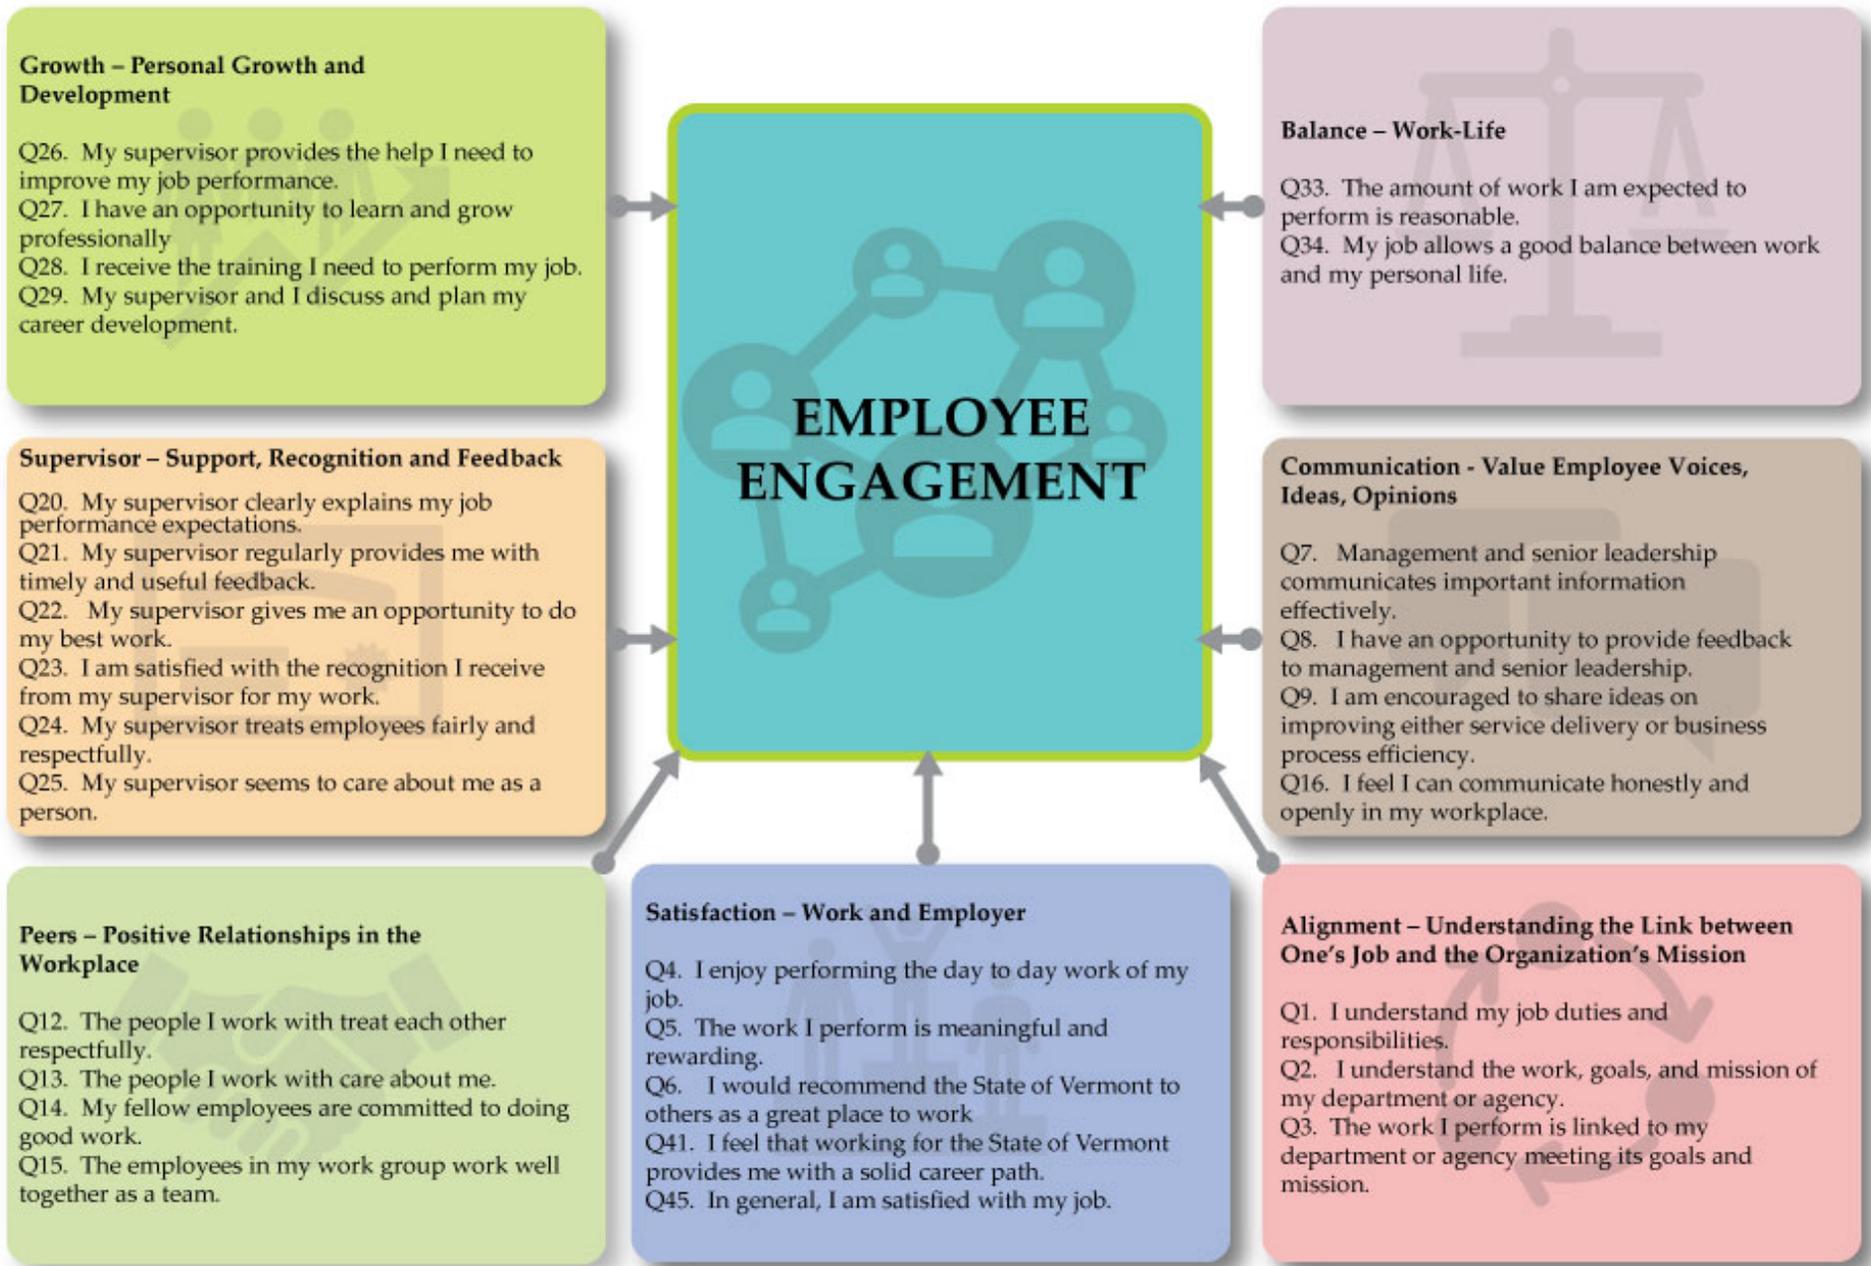

Table 32 – Components of Employee Engagement – 2019 Averages

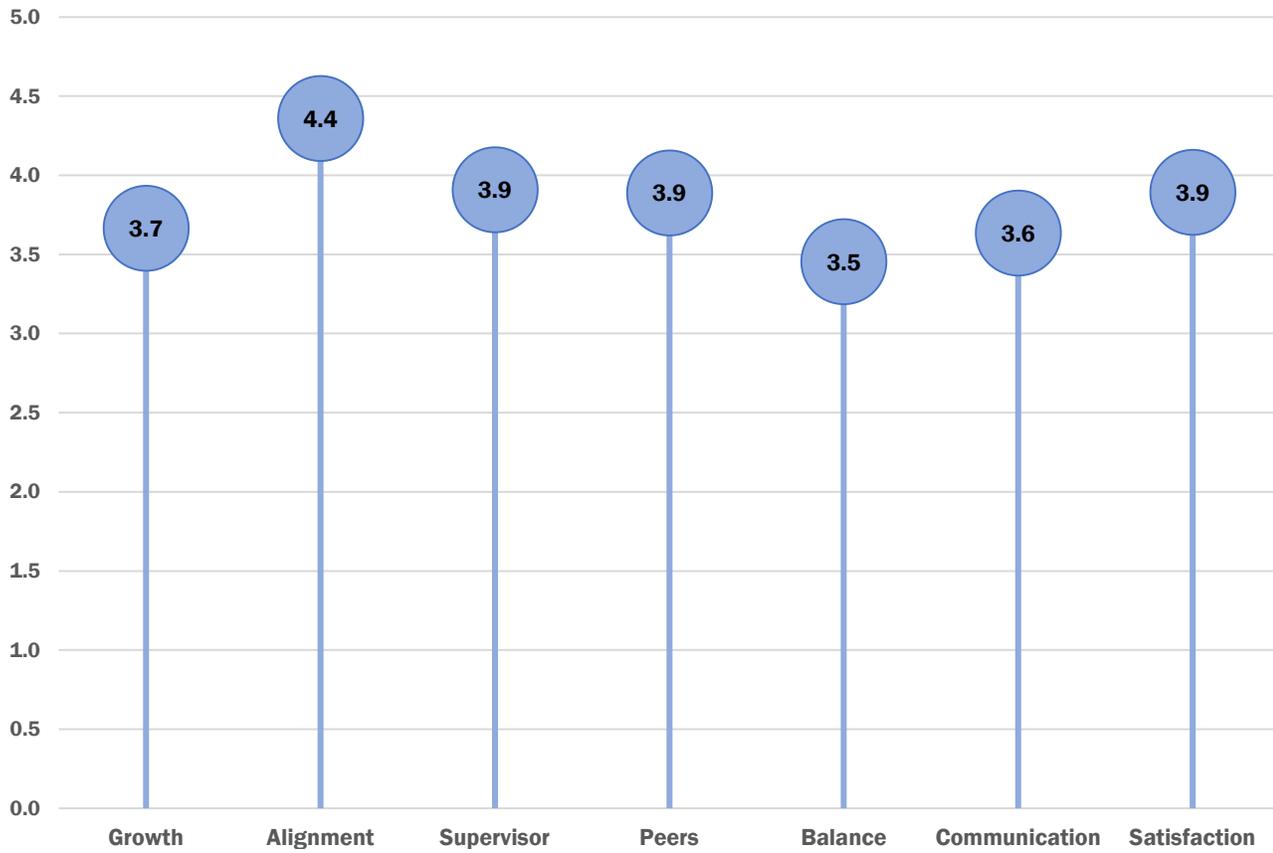

Table 32 shows the components of employee engagement. Alignment – understanding the link between one’s job and the organization’s mission - was the highest component score. Supervisor, Peers and Satisfaction all had high component scores. The lowest was Balance – the sense of work-life balance.

Table 33 shows scores for each of the seven components from 2014 to 2017.

While all increased from 2014 to 2019 – Balance (+5.1%), Communication (+6.3%) and Growth (+4.9%) – these three components have the lowest average scores over that time period. These are areas where efforts to improve the component will increase overall engagement.

These component scores be used to pinpoint engagement components with room for improvement. Further Table 31 shows the questions that make up each component and can further refine specific targeted elements. For instance, in the primary elements of Supervision are support, recognition and feedback. By making efforts to improve those underlying elements, through training or other initiatives, an organization can increase employee engagement.

There was wide variation in engagement components and engagement scores between departments.

Table 34 shows 2019 scores for Employee Engagement and Components by Department. A “heat map” of responses is used to identify scores that are either equal to or greater than the median for that question or less than the median for that question. This is a visual tool to make both within and cross department comparisons. The median was used to show the top 50%/bottom 50% for scores.

Additionally, in Appendix D the reader will find scores for Employee Engagement and Components by Department for 2014 – 2019. Again, a heat map is used to make comparisons both within department across years and between departments across years.

Finally, Appendix E shows 2019 Engagement scores by department compared to statewide scores. Here there is a visual representation included for each department.

Qualitative Analysis of Open-Ended Question Responses

Overview

In addition to the 45 employee engagement survey items, an optional open-ended question was provided to survey participants:

Please provide any comments you may have about ways to make the State of Vermont a better place to work.

Out of the 4,493 employees who responded to the survey, 1,484 provided a response to the open-ended question for a response rate of 33%.

Two raters independently analyzed and coded each comment for major themes and subthemes. Major themes were named based on what was interpreted to be the key idea or ideas expressed in the response (based on key words or phrases that were commonly used). Subthemes were within the major theme but mentioned often enough that it deserved its own tally. In addition, the raters coded whether the comment theme expressed was clearly “negative,” “positive,” or “neutral.”

How often a theme or subtheme came up was tallied. The 1,484 comments contained over 4,600 thematic ideas.

Work Environment and General Employee Morale (628)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 14%
 - Neutral: 14%
 - Negative: 71.3%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Work Environment
 - Deficient staffing impacting ability to manage workload.
 - Dissatisfaction with open office environment.
- Morale
 - Understaffing and heavy workload have a negative impact on morale.
 - Displeasure with AOT office move to Barre.
 - Lack of recognition and respect from leadership of front-line staff.
 - Lack of transparent communication from senior leadership.

Examples:

Continued commitment to flexibility, family leave, and work-life balance leads to happier employees and less turn over- in addition to increased work productivity!

I am very happy in my job, but see a huge cultural environment that does not promote diversity and inclusion

Moving from Montpelier to Berlin or Barre for work may not seem like a big change, but it has major repercussions for one's life and daily schedule.

Information is not communicated from the top or when it is, is done so in a haphazard manner. Communication up is not reported to the correct personnel or acted on in an appropriate time frame. Morale is low as staff are dissatisfied with the lack of communication and the bureaucratic barriers to doing the important work that needs to done.

Pay & Benefits (506)

Pay for Performance/Performance Incentive programs linked to rewards or pay increases (76)
Concerns about equity in job titles and the job classification process (70)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 2%
 - Neutral: 33%

- Negative: 65%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Pay
 - Salaries need to be higher:
 - Not commensurate with job duties/expectations.
 - SOV salaries are not competitive with those of neighboring state governments.
 - Salaries need to be higher for professional level positions in order to attract top talent.
- Benefits
 - Leave Time
 - Paid parental leave should be offered.
 - Cost of health insurance is increasing too quickly.
 - Communications:
 - DHR needs to do a better job of communicating details on benefits plans to new employees, including with the New Employee Orientation.
 - Enhance Wellness opportunities:
 - Gym membership subsidies.

Examples:

Wages are well below industry average for the knowledge they are expecting for each position. This causes for a difficult time attracting the talent necessary to perform the jobs duties and even once they are aboard to retain them for any great length of time.

Develop fair and transparent evaluation and position classification processes.

The state's award system for outstanding employees is very limited, which results in some of the best workers leaving state employment for better options. A seniority-based system is a thing of the past and needs revamping. Consider pay for performance.

Workload & Staffing (472)

Concerns about understaffing (218)

Fairness and Improvements in Hiring Practices (97)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: <1%
 - Neutral: 26%
 - Negative: 74%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Workload
 - Insufficient staffing adversely impacting the ability to manage work and caseloads.
 - Creates the need to assign overtime (DOC).
- Staffing
 - Hiring Practices:
 - Greater efforts and emphasis on hiring a more diverse workforce.
 - Improve onboarding experience for newly hired employees.
 - Focus more on retaining existing staff.
 - Organizational Structure:
 - Too many senior leaders and managers and not enough line-staff.
 - District Field Offices are understaffed (AHS).

Examples:

The workload of many state employees, including those I work with from other departments, is high - this limits people's ability to accomplish projects in a timely manner and undermines job satisfaction.

Supervision (464)

Performance management/addressing the issue of non-performing employees (83)

Performance Evaluation (56)

Recognition of staff (55)

Supervisor Training (46)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 9%
 - Neutral: 10%
 - Negative: 70%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Inconsistencies in practices:
 - Lack of knowledge on how to supervise, and of applicable policies and rules.
 - Favoritism demonstrated towards certain employees.
 - Sexual harassment and discriminatory practices still occur in isolated pockets.
- Performance management:
 - Do not hold poor performing employees accountable.
 - Performance evaluations not completed timely, or at all.
- Praise:
 - Numerous references to supervisors excelling at communication with staff, treating staff respectfully, and promoting learning and career development opportunities.

Examples:

I can say that this is the first time I've completed this survey and felt positive about the work I do, the meaning behind it and the people I work with. I think it would be beneficial for supervisors that have the least amount of turnover to talk about how they supervise. I've finally found a team that is in fact a TEAM. What a difference it makes.

I enjoy my job and, like any job, there times when its overwhelming and stressful however I feel I have the support within my staff to get through. My supervisor and other upper management are also very accessible and genuinely willing to help. I also feel that I get recognized for the hard work I do, which I very much appreciate!

Annual evaluations are not conducted across the board, I have not had one in 5 or 6 years.

It would be valuable for Supervising staff to receive training more often around conflict resolution, mapping career path with your staff, behavior management, etc. My current supervisor has not been to a training for supervising in state govt for many years, and there is not a great internal tracking mechanism in place to ensure they attend required development opportunities.

More accountability for staff who are not meeting performance expectations. More direct, immediate feedback from supervisors - it's how we grow.

Policies (397)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 3%
 - Neutral: 37%
 - Negative: 60%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Work scheduling
 - More opportunities to work a flexible schedule.
 - More opportunities to telecommute.
- Benefits
 - Paid parental leave.
 - Positive and negative comments about Infants at Work Policy.

Examples:

Hearing the news about the Infant in the Workplace policy made me so proud to work as a State Employee.

The infant in the workplace program is a disgrace.

Work-life balance is bad. Telework should be allowed for many employees who want it. So should flexible hours. The idea you have to be at your desk from 7:45am to 4:30pm to do your job is old-fashioned and out of date. I can accomplish more work at home without the constant noise and distractions of the open office design.... Something needs to change or the state will not be able to keep employees or recruit younger ones!

Leadership (369)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 6%
 - Neutral: 12%
 - Negative: 82%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Communication
 - Improved lines of communication needed between leaders and employees, including a greater level of transparency.
 - Leaders need to be more accessible to employees.
- Training
 - Leaders should go through an onboarding process.
 - Leaders should have better knowledge of the jobs that staff perform.
- Provide employees with the tools and resources needed to perform their duties successfully.

Examples:

More positive messages from leadership, better quality sexual harassment training, more clarity about our goals and how we are contributing to them (not more strategic plans, more messaging about what we are achieving).

The highest level of administrative management at my agency seems out of touch with day to day activities and assessing goals that don't have the staffing infrastructure or time to be done.

Training & Development (245)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 5%
 - Neutral: 37%
 - Negative: 39%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Provide better training on the use of technology.
- Need for more and better diversity training.
- Need for more and better sexual harassment and discrimination prevention training.

- Need for more comprehensive supervisory training.

Examples:

Additional training at all levels so that leadership possesses the tools necessary to recognize individuality and how to foster teamwork for all staff to feel supported, respected and valued. Open communication builds trust.

Communication (216)

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 4%
 - Neutral: 32%
 - Negative: 64%
- More frequent and transparent communication between leadership and frontline staff.
- Collaboration between agencies/departments needs to improve.
- Provide staff with ongoing updates on agency/department performance relative to the strategic plan and broad-based goals.

Examples:

Meaningful communication from agency leadership is very poor and there's a sense that no one really knows what is going on. This impacts morale and leads to gossip and conjecture about what the agency's goals are and how staff will be involved.

Value lower level employee input on projects within the department and when working with other departments.

Work Conditions (198)

"Open office" (34)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 2%
 - Neutral: 27%
 - Negative: 72%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Dissatisfaction with open office environments.
 - Too noisy.
 - Difficult to discuss confidential matters.
 - Inefficient to have to expend too much time on finding meeting rooms.

- Lack of available parking in Montpelier.
- Some State buildings need to be made more secure and safe for employees.

Examples:

Parking for state employees on Montpelier is terrible.

The open work environment in Waterbury is good at times for some work duties, but as a Supervisor, without an office, I spend way too much time trying to find a confidential space to meet with staff. I miss having an office given the duties I must perform. It is also challenging to set boundaries regarding not being continuously interrupted in an open work environment.

Government Efficiency, Quality Improvement and Cost Savings Ideas (190)

- Tone of comments:
 - Positive: 6%
 - Neutral: 67%
 - Negative: 27%

Themes Reflected in Comments

- Availability of more modern technological tools would enhance efficiencies, performance, and cost savings.
