Hi Jon. There was language in approps re a sound program at Lyndon that required a 50k match. I can't find it. Did it make the cit?

This would be funny if it wasn't so serious for the people who have to live with this. See the email below from Aaron Kisicki of DPS seeking yet another extension regarding the McLane's noise complaint. Now the sound experts hired by DPS will take forever listening to audio files to try to find conditions similar to the conditions on the night Melodie complained. Like some arcane Rube Goldberg machine, they have concocted such an absurd process for addressing complaints that never lead to anything except money for lawyers and experts.

Yesterday I wrote and submitted this to the PSB, for what good it will do. Wasting more of my time. But I keep trying. http://vce.org/VCE\_7250\_2ndPublicCommentDeerfieldWind\_050916.pdf

If you have any news on the continuous sound monitoring, I am keenly interested. Did it get through? How much? Is there a $50,000 match requirement. This morning I got a phone call from someone who may be willing to put up the match money. But I still don't know if the language actually survived the session.

10 months and counting for one complaint. Sure, why not?

Good morning, all,

Under the current schedule in place in the proceeding, the Department's recommendations for next steps are due to the Public Service Board on Friday, May 13. Are the parties amenable to granting the Department a one week extension – to Friday, May 20 – to file comments with the Board? It took the Department longer than anticipated to get copies of audio files to its sound expert.

I plan to file a request for an extension with the Board by the end of today. Please let me know if I may represent that the parties have no objection to the request.

Thanks,
